

Samba Sizzler

Another international bombshell is preparing to hijack the box-office. She is Brazilian model Mariyah, 23, who will be seen in a dance number in the forthcoming Shiney Ahuja-starrer Hijack, to be directed by Kunal Shivdasani. A trained jazz and classical ballet dancer, she has "fallen in love with India and Bollywood" and promises to set the screen on fire with her act. Here's a sizzler to watch out for.

A GEM ON CARDS

From playing soothsayer to the stars to modelling for a jewellery brand, tarot card reader Sunita Menon, 41, is shining bright, quite literally. The dusky beauty has been roped in to model for jewellery brand Giantti and will soon launch her own line of bling. "While I keep recommending stones to people, I thought if I could add my special touch to them, they would be accepted well," she says. Stone therapy, anyone?

MUSICAL ACT

From singing, composing to acting, Raghav Sachar's career seems to be going Himesh Reshammiya way. Having composed the music of One Two Three, Sachar, 26, is not only fielding musical propositions but is also receiving acting offers. After turning down Kumar Mangat's offer in Haal-E-Dil, Sachar is now all set to hone his acting skills. "Acting for music videos is different from acting in films. I have hired a coach who gives me acting lessons," he says. Another all-in-one sensation?

Nobel Start

She's no ordinary Indian-American teen. At 17, Shivani Sud has bagged the top prize at the prestigious Intel Science Talent Search contest for her project on early-stage colon cancer patients with a high risk for recurrence. Referred to as the Junior Nobel, this award entitles her to a $100,000 (Rs 40 lakh) scholarship from the Intel Foundation. This North Carolina girl hopes to attend Princeton or Harvard and make a career in research some day. Great going, gal.
