

and India as a favored tourism destination has contributed to it in a great measure. New airlines are entering the field, existing ones are going in for major expansions and acquisitions and new routes are opening up apart from an infrastructural upgradation. This has led to a great demand for pilots and it is far outstripping its availability. This being the domain of privileged class so far, there is also an acute lack of awareness amongst aspirants. TransAsia Aviation would like to enhance your awareness about this career option, update you about the opportunities available and how to enter the arena. * The article is written by Renu Sangwan ,CEO ,TransAsia Aviation , New Delhi.
