LOCAL AUTHORITY

BECAUSE theirs is the newspaper that over 21 million readers in more than a dozen states pick up every morning, more than any other daily in the world. Because Dainik Jagran has 29 printing centres that produce 32 editions, which together turn out 200 sub-editions, each one customised for readers in different parts of the country. Because I-Next, a Hinglish newspaper started less than a year ago and aimed at youth, has already moved ahead of many Hindi mainline papers in several Uttar Pradesh cities. Because despite being a Samajwadi Party MP in the Rajya Sabha, the senior Gupta maintains cordial, cross-party relations.

DIFFERENT STROKES:

Gupta Sr likes to take off on holidays with close friends to a domestic destination, while the son is a globe-trotter.

HOT WHEELS:

The father drives to Parliament sessions in his Mercedes, but back home in Kanpur he is often seen at the wheel of a Santro.

THEY ARE PLANNING A BUSINESS DAILY IN REGIONAL LANGUAGES.

MYSTIC MASSEUR

BECAUSE after making yoga a household routine in India with his telly-evangelism, he took it abroad. Because he held 50 yoga camps around the world last year. Because he has a klieg light following that stretches from Bollywood to Parliament. Because a study by his yoga peeth shows that 100 crore people around the globe have heard of him. Because he figures in 90,000 websites and has over six lakh pages dedicated to him. Because he held the biggest ever yoga camp in Dubai, despite it being dubbed un-Islamic by Muslim clerics in Saudi Arabia.
