

DEEPAK G PAWAR

AZIM H. PREMJI

61, BUSINESSMAN (11)

TECH TITAN

BECAUSE Wipro has not only become the world's largest research and development services provider, but is also among the top three offshore BPO service providers in the world.

Because he is a billionaire who takes education seriously, and has 250 professionals and over 1,100 paid field volunteers to bring quality teaching to three million children in 17,000 schools across India. Because he paid $600 million to acquire the US-based Infocrossing, a $234 million infrastructure provider, in the largest overseas deal so far by an Indian infotech company last year, and two months later, won a $275 million multi-year outsourcing deal to provide health care services to residents of Missouri, USA.

TOUGH GUY MOVE:

Outsourcing a BPO centre for Wipro Technologies to Cebu, Philippines.

DIET SECRET: Healthy dose of batata pao and Mysore masala dosa.

FAVOURITE VACATION SPOT: Trekking around

Bangalore and Mumbai.

BIG NEW MANTRA:

"We trust our instincts less than we should."

TIME MANAGEMENT

TECHNIQUE: Lives in an ethnic bungalow on the Wipro campus and walks to work.

HE IS NOW EXPANDING INTO DEFENCE, BUILDING LOCALLY FOR US AND UK FIRMS.

SHASHI & RAVI RUIA

64 AND 58, INDUSTRIALIST (17)

TWIN PEAKS

BECAUSE their personal worth is estimated at Rs 80,000 crore, which, if they were a nation, would fetch them a rank of 80 among 182 countries in terms of GDP. Because the equity value of Essar Global, the holding company has been placed at $30 billion. Because the group turnover has shot up to Rs 40,000 crore from Rs 34,000 crore. Because they are ramping up their steel capacity to 20 mt per annum. Because their power expansion this year will ramp up generation to 6,000 MW. Because they are knocking at pole position in telecom retail with the cut-price Mobile Store. Because they are ramping up refining capacity to 34 million tonne. Because in each of their businesses from steel to oil to telecom to shipping to refinery they have put in place investments of over Rs 60,000 crore.

BIG TAG DEALS:

Algoma Steel in Canada and Minnesota Steel in the US for $1.8 billion.

HOLIDAYS ARE IN:

Wildlife sanctuaries in Australia and South Africa.

PERSONAL WINGS:

Have five aircraft, including two Gulfstream IV.

EVENT THEY ARE

PROUD OF: Wedding reception at the Mumbai Race Course for Ravi's daughter Smriti.

THEY INTEND TO BUY 15 NEW SHIPS THIS YEAR, TAKING THEIR TOTAL FLEET SIZE TO 42.

UMESH GOSWAMI

