

■ G.M. RAO

57, INDUSTRIALIST (NEW)

ROAD STAR

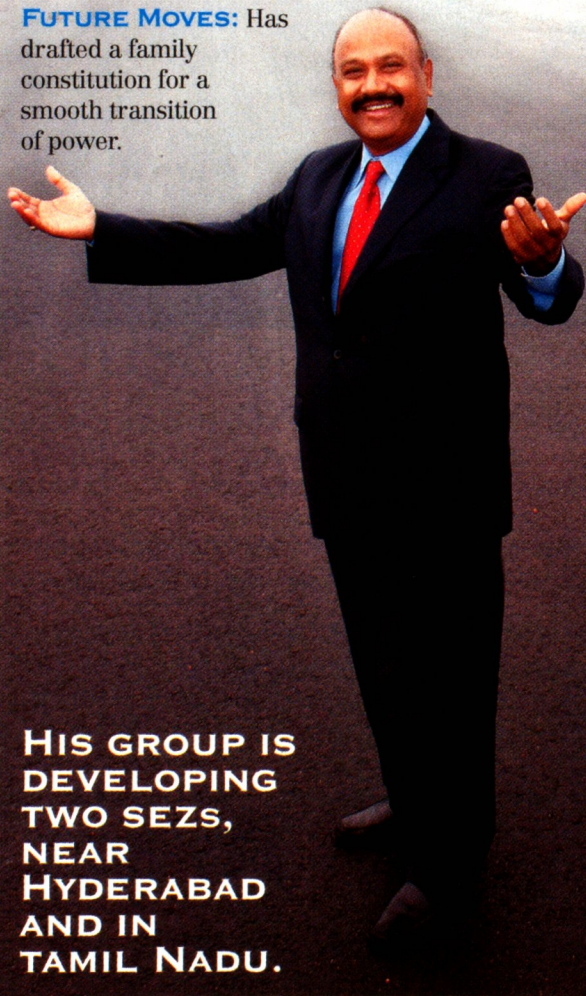

BECAUSE the GMR group is poised to open the second public-private partnership greenfield airport in India, at Hyderabad, even as it races to complete the revamp of the Delhi airport. Because the first global project bagged by his group is the modernisation of the Sabiha Gokcen International Airport in Istanbul, Turkey, alongside the development of power projects in Nepal. Because after establishing three greenfield power plants, one each in Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh, he is developing five more to create a capacity of over 3,300 MW of power across India.

SHOULD BE EMBARRASSED

ABOUT: The brief foray into insurance, creating and ultimately pulling out of ING Vysya.

FUTURE MOVES:

Has drafted a family constitution for a smooth transition of power.

HIS GROUP IS DEVELOPING TWO SEZS, NEAR HYDERABAD AND IN TAMIL NADU.

HEMANT CHAWLA

■ RAGHAV BAHL

48, MEDIA BARON (15)

STOCK MARKER

BECAUSE he is sitting at the helm of five listed media companies with a combined market capitalisation of Rs 12,000 crore, up from Rs 200 crore four years ago. Because his two business TV channels have singlehandedly created a new, controversial but influential segment in the stock market—the anchor investor—that even the former SEBI chairman had to warn against. Because he has joint ventures with three media behemoths, Viacom, CNBC and Forbes. Because he has now diversified into the movie and the general entertainment industry. Because even as the homeshop operations cross 20 million pages per day, his channels dominate the business broadcast media. Because after acquiring 100 per cent stake in IBN7, he is getting ready to launch one of the world's premier magazines in India and a business daily in Hindi.

RECENT

ACQUISITION: A four bedroom 500 sq yard bungalow in Noida with a terrace garden, "not an Amrita Shergill Marg Rs 100 crore mansion."

TIME OFF: Golf on Saturday, exhilarating after a three-year injury-induced layoff. Sunday at the multiplex with the family. Yoga five days a week.