

A few words about the people behind the first E-passport system in Asia.

NEC is the company that has supplied the first E-passport system in Asia under the ICAO (International Civil Aviation Organization) standard.

This was accomplished by NEC's world-class biometric security solutions which incorporate state-of-the-art identification technologies of fingerprint recognition.

As a global leader in IT and networking integrated solutions, we are proud to offer end-to-end solution to every customer in a variety of fields. Besides providing the hardware, software and services, we also integrate these to offer you optimal solutions on a turnkey basis.

It's another instance of how NEC empowers people through innovation.
