

cover story

Nitin Bal Chauhan

USP Aims to fuse different hues of art and society. Look out for a blend of Goth and folk.

showing on March 13 on the ramp.

ABOUT THE DESIGNER

"The legacy of bureaucracy provided me with an opportunity to feel the plight of the underprivileged and the charm of elitism. Both facets left an indelible mark on my mind," says Chauhan, 28. He graduated from NIFT in 2002, winning the Best Design Collection Award. The awards and recognition kept coming, with the British Design Council Award in 2004 and a scholarship from Domus Academy, Italy. The look of his Fashion Week collection is a blend of Goth and folk. It is also an attempt to revive, promote and create sustainable means of employment for artisans in Himachal Pradesh.

ISHAN TANKHA