

Neeraj and Alpana Chauhan

USP Every design is given an edgy feel with the inclusion of funky or yarn elements.

showing on March 15 on the ramp.

ABOUT THE DESIGNERS

Azara is the brainchild of Neeraj Chauhan, 28, and his wife, Alpana, 28. Both graduated from NIFT in 2000. "I have known Neeraj for a long time and hence we complement each other in our work," says Alpana. Neeraj went on to represent India in the prestigious Admiralty Needle contest held annually in Russia. Alpana worked for designer J.J. Valaya, while Neeraj worked with an export house and dealt with international buyers/brands Rene Derhy, Custo Barcelona and April Cornel. In 2004 they joined hands together to launch their label Azara, which means 'out-fit of the bride' in Persian.

Didier Lecoanet and Hemant Sagar

USP Extensive travels and many encounters with different people infuse their designs with energy and life.

showing on March 12 on the ramp.

ABOUT THE DESIGNERS

The turning point in the lives of Didier Lecoanet, 52, and Hemant Sagar, 50, was the birth of their fashion house, Lecoanet Hemant in 1984. The pair met in 1978 and went on to promote their complementary talents in the field of fashion design. Since 1984, Lecoanet and Sagar have presented a haute couture and a ready-to-wear collection every season. They won the Golden Thimble Fashion Award (le De d'Or) in 1994. "We both share some passions and we are inspired by those for each collection," Sagar says.
