

cover story

Charu Parashar

USP Indian craftsmanship in modern tones, bright colours and bold prints.

showing on March 16 on the ramp.

ABOUT THE DESIGNER

A revivalist at heart, Parashar, 34, believes in taking Indian craftsmanship and ancient printing techniques to the level of luxury. Her signature style has evolved as a fusion of structured textile print detailed with an amalgamation of colours that represent modern Indian women. She has been invited for the prestigious Dubai Fashion Week 08 where she will be showcasing her new collection called 'Open Sesame' on March 22. "I make clothes for the masses. They are something that any women would love to wear," the designer says.

Khushali Kumar

USP Inspired by the modern arts. Caters to strong women with individuality, leadership.

showing on March 15 on the ramp.

ABOUT THE DESIGNER

The sensitivity of an artist and the expression of a stylist combines to enhance boundless creativities of Kumar's label, Reve. Kumar, 25, graduated from NIFT in 2004 and went on to work with various international brands. "This helped me put global tastes, intellectual understanding and superior workmanship in my designs," she says. The label tries to achieve universal standards of creativity and imagination and hence she takes inspirations from various modern arts. Her line for the Fashion Week shows women as artistes, creators, poets and leaders, wherein the whole world is her ensemble.