

'For, he who is last, will now be first'

This beautiful and meaningful phrase inscribed 2000 years ago in the New Testament could not be truer in today's world. Thou can be the last one in the race but still emerge a winner. lastminuteinventory.com mirrors the same principle. Now thou can book media space at the last minute and still get the best deals. It's an idea whose time has come.

Conceptualized by Dentsu India and owned by Last Minute Media, lastminuteinventory.com leverages time to sell media at an advantage. It's the world's first online and real-time media exchange, making inventory available to advertisers and agencies till the very last minute.

lastminuteinventory is first-of-its-kind lastminuteinventory.com is a bold new concept. It opens up a huge world of possibilities for media buyers and sellers. It provides new opportunities to trade with geographically dispersed media-owners and media-buyers through just a simple click and in a split second. Advertisers and agencies can browse and evaluate the available media inventory and then bid for it, or buy it outright at the offered price. The media is then allocated online while the fulfillment happens offline. It's that simple.

Exciting opportunities cometh in the last minute lastminuteinventory.com is a boon for the entire media ecosystem because of its dynamic format. It complements the existing buying system through cost effective buys of last minute inventory. The best part is that there are good deals available throughout the year and the deals are not restricted to campaign periods. If there's an existing campaign going on, simply pick up the inventory that suits the schedule and use it as a cost-effective top-up.

Every good path needs Evangelists lastminuteinventory.com needs a few good men (and women!). Just like the Evangelists of biblical times who single-mindedly spread the gospel. Men who will go forth and spread an exciting new media religion like wildfire. Men who will nurture novel ideas to take lastminuteinventory.com beyond. Find new business opportunities with it. Give it twists and turns. Discover new uses and applications. Train and teach, and at the same time do a little bit of hard-selling too.

At lastminuteinventory.com thou won't be mere chaff. Thou will be an apostle who knowest many truths. A co-founder. Giving this never-before idea wings and amazing directions, taking it to a level no one has even dared think of. So spend ye some time with the startup years of this portal. And thou will goest where no media man has tread before. (Be the salt of the media earth, so to speak.)

If thou art a post-graduate in Management/Statistics/Sociology/Economics from a premier school with top academic grades (being a divine student is important to us) and have 1-5 years of experience call Bryan Nazareth at +91 9820701727. You can also mail him at bryan.nazareth@lastminuteinventory.in before going forth to 'increase and multiply'.

lastminuteinventory.com