■ Institute of Productivity & Management

Quintessentially, IPM is a small B-school by today's standards in terms of numbers but the institute makes it up by sheer value as borne by the last 30 years of its' existence. IPM focus is on quality be it in teaching, research, MDP's, institution building or Career Services. The student of the programme is the centre of all activities that take place at its' campus. For three decades, IPM has believed in forging strong symbiotic relations with industry and services. International linkages are of immense importance for building a worldwide perspective. Cultural diversity in classrooms is the hallmark of IPM. A few years at IPM instills basic but essential values of discipline, punctuality, commitment and teamwork. Industry comes to the Institute not only during placement season but as teachers, guest speakers, projects, admissions, curricula designing. IPM believes that economic growth must be accompanied with social equity and offers scholarships to deserving candidates, particularly from North East India.
