The Mayawati Government has taken to suspending and reinstating senior bureaucrats and police officials on the slightest of provocation

MANISH AGNIHOTRI

cers and transferred Gorakhpur's senior superintendent R.K. Rai and issued a warning to Maharajganj superintendent Prashant Kumar.

At a meeting of oims and srs last week, she announced a new review-and-punish policy under which senior officers would verify work done in five districts, selected by her. She would later pay surprise visits and if laxity is found in development work, action would be taken against the concerned official on the spot. This arrangement would be implemented from January next year. However, Secretary, Personnel, J.S. Deepak says no change has been incorporated in planning, finance, industry and agriculture production. All heads are continuing from the previous regime. Besides a few changes as per administrative requirements, "the field administrative set up is stable", says Deepak.

The harsh reality is that bureaucrats have brought upon themselves the current predicament as during the Mulayam rule, top officers had often shared platforms with politicians and given speeches. Now, they are paying the price for that proximity. ■
