■ Chinmaya International Residential School

A Unique Fusion of Culture & Academics

The best of the east and the best of the west, a co-educational institution set up in 1996 by the Central Chinmaya Mission Trust

Chinmaya International Residential School (CIRS) is a movement wherein a child is encouraged and assisted to integrate the body, mind and spirit through self-learning, thus carving a niche in today's dynamic global society.

Education here is the grooming of the entire being based on the strong foundations of the Gurukula tradition of ancient India which has been adapted to suit modern educational leverage, committed to personal development and responsibility through service, challenge, adventure and international understanding.

CIRS attempts that students stand out when they are evaluated in the outside world on parameters pegged not only on academic excellence, but in a more holistic manner; taking on board their extra-curricular activities and an articulation of their values, vision and aspiration goals; that they leave a mark wherever they go. Excellence in academics coupled with firm foundation of good values is the hallmark of a CIRS student.

The intent and purpose of setting up this school bring this grand vision into the orbit of reality. CIRS is different. CIRS stands for values, rather a value system.

The CIRS's Core Values

1. The interest of the student comes first
 2. Quest of quality in everything
 3. Treating people with respect and dignity
 4. Highest standards of integrity
 5. Fierce pride in my country
 6. Thanking the Lord for all that he has given us
- always and everytime

And the practice of the first core value makes it the best manner and method for us to both practice and inculcate the other core values in our students, enabling them to be good outstanding citizens.
