

Frontrunners in elegance and excellence...

USI – The Greenest Apparel Company in India

Ashvinder Singh
MD, Uni Style Images Pvt Ltd
MD, Metal Studio Pvt Ltd

Mr. Singh - native of New Delhi, citizen of the World - is living the life of an agent of positive change via his chosen profession entrepreneurship. He is an innovator and leader who believes that 'there are infinite numbers of ways to affect change and make an impact, and we need to take a personal call on the contribution we want to make.'

Year of establishment: 1990

Management philosophy

Nurturing talent and realising the true potential of all - be it of the management, entire workforce, or business associates

USI Vision

The dream at USI was never about making clothes like no one else does, nor was it to dress everyone the way they wanted to, but to offer an expression of good things and values in life, and spread the message across.

Motto

To keep faith in certain core values, and not get carried away with the flow; to create maximum value with least damage and instil awareness in others to do the same.

Things we can do to save our planet

- Change your light bulb to CFLs
- wash your cloths in warm water instead of hot
- Build a skyscraper
- Take another look at vintage clothes
- Let employees work close to home
- Ride the bus
- Move to a high-rise
- Pay your bills online
- Open a window
- Ask the experts for an energy audit of your home
- Check the product label for energy efficiency
- Use solar power water heater
- Skip the steak
- Just say no to plastic bags
- Support your local farmer
- Plant a bamboo fence
- Straighten up and fly right
- Use seasonal flower, not imported
- Remove the tie
- Shut off your computer
- Use only recycle paper
- Use minimum packaging for your products
- Make your garden grow
- Car pool ride
- Check your tires
- Always make right turn when u drive
- Plant a tree in the tropic
- If You must burn coal, do it right

THE GREEN CAP

Being green is a habit at USI, not just a matter of choice...

Think a range of pure cotton apparel, eco-friendly dyes and recycled paper bags... Think USI! That's true; at USI efforts to develop an environmentally and socially conscious culture are consciously continuous. The brand is involved in various projects concerning the environment through the USI Enviro Club which it started way back in 1996. They have regularly run campaigns to create awareness; a campaign on "Aids Awareness" during the World Aids Awareness Week, and distribution of t-shirts with the message: "Spread Awareness Not Aids" is a case in the point. USI is also associated with various NGOs where they sponsor events and pay for children education and health.

Believing strongly in kids' power they organise a poetry competition for 8-10yr olds every year on anti tobacco day. The USI AW 07-08 collection talks about the effects of global warming on innocent animals like the polar bear and puts across the message with strong graphics - efficiently and effectively. The cover of the USI catalogue too lists 28 ways of saving the planet by eliminating and reducing the major causes for global warming.

At USI the objective is to mobilise a force of common people with corporate backing to move towards a better future. 'This can only be done if the entire industry joins hands with the aim of constructing a better and visionary corporate culture', they believe.