

Defence Research and Development Organisation Ministry of Defence

Defence Research & Development Organization (DRDO), the R&D wing of the Ministry of defence, Government of India, has completed 50 years of dedicated service to the Nation. The year 2008 marks its Golden Jubilee Year. With 50 research and development laboratories under its umbrella, DRDO has developed and productionised several state-of-the-art military hardware & strategic systems. DRDO has synergised with the Armed Forces in capability building both in terms of equipments and technologies. DRDO also owes its success to the participation and contribution made by more than 100 academic institutions and over 500 industries from within and outside the country. In addition, Research centres, S&T establishments and various departments of the State and the Central Government have contributed to its story of success.

DRDO Golden Jubilee Student Competition

As part of the Golden Jubilee Celebrations, DRDO is conducting a nationwide student level competition for engineering students for the design / development of an innovative engineering product to nurture design engineering ideas of the student community. BE/BTech Engineering students in 3rd/4th year of engineering and MTech/ME students are eligible to participate.
