

FLIP-FLOP

AUGUST 11, 2007

"I told them (the Left) it is not possible to renegotiate the deal. It is an honourable deal. We cannot go back on it. I told them to do whatever they want to do; if they want to withdraw support, so be it."

AUGUST 31, 2007

"When a country of the size of India grows at the rate of 9 to 10 per cent, energy becomes a critical issue. We do not enjoy the luxury of an either-or choice."

AUGUST 31, 2007

"There is today a talk the world over of a nuclear renaissance and we cannot afford to miss the nuclear bus."

OCTOBER 12, 2007

"I recall the pressures we had to withstand in 1991. If we had dithered, we would have taken the country into a whirlpool of disaster. We were not afraid to think into the future."

OCTOBER 12, 2007

"We are not a one-issue Government. If the deal does not come through, it will be disappointing. But in life, one has to take disappointments. The deal is not the end of life."

VOLTE FACE:
Manmohan has lost the
aura of the reformer
