In 13 trading sessions, the Sensex went from 16,000 to 18,000

Robust flows from foreign institutional investors (FIIs) are propelling the benchmark Sensex to dizzy heights. So far this year, the FIIs have pumped $16 billion into Indian equities. That's nearly a fourth of the total foreign portfolio inflows into the country since 1991. Are the market valuations getting ahead of themselves? Will the bull run last? Business Today, India's No. 1 business magazine, gives you the answers.
