Prime Minister as Politician

At his ripe old age, I do not expect Shri Advani to change his thinking. But for his sake and India's sake, I urge him at least to change his astrologers so that he gets more accurate predictions of things to come.

Before levelling charges of incompetence on others, Shri Advani should do some introspection. Can our nation forgive a home minister who slept when the terrorists were knocking at the doors of our Parliament?

L.K. Advani should enlighten us if he will step aside as prime ministerial candidate of the Opposition in favour of the choice of the UNPA. They should take the country into confidence on this.
