

Wonder Kid

She's got music in her genes. And by her own admission, she's literally grown up in A.R. Rahman's company. But what's special about Sana, the 18-year-old daughter of lyricist Mehboob, is that after Usha Khanna, she's probably the only woman music director. "I've been touring with A.R. Rahman on his international shows since I was 14," says Sana, who has trained in Western Classical Piano from the Trinity College of London. The little maestro has already composed a song, Maula khair kare, for Ram Gopal Varma's Contract and is busy working on her first full-fledged Bollywood film, another Varma project. "Ram Gopal Varma and my dad were talking and he asked me to compose right then," she says. This one's clearly hitting all the right notes.

LANGUAGE NO BAR

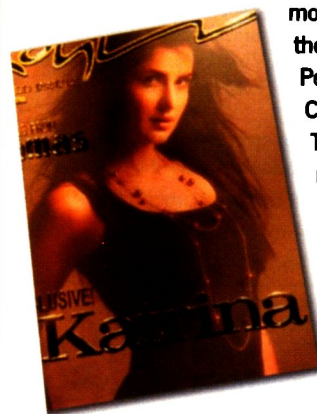

After enthralling Bollywood audiences with her dimpled smile, Sharmila Tagore is now set to try her hand at Marathi cinema. The yesteryear star, now best known as mom to Saif and Soha Ali Khan, is taking Marathi classes to prepare for her role in Amol Palekar's tentatively titled movie, Samaantar. While Tagore prefers to let her director do the talking about the film, Palekar, when asked why he chose Tagore, quips, "Why not?" Confirming that he has indeed roped in the Kashmir ki Kali star, the actor-director refuses to solve the Paheli of Tagore's role further.

Golden Girl

Katrina Kaif is really worth her weight in gold. And the newly launched ITC lifestyle magazine, Kohl, seems to have taken this literally. The cover with Kaif was specially designed by jewel designing and manufacturing company Damas and is astonishingly fitted with 91 gram of gold and 622 diamonds. It took the craftsmen over 86 hours to hand-apply layers of gold leaf to the original magazine. It was launched in June at the Borders outlet in Mall of the Emirates and will be exhibited at several Damas stores till October after which it will be auctioned. The money will go to the Rashid Pediatric Therapy Centre in Dubai. The price of this magazine is around $10,000 making it the most expensive ever. Talk about being worth it.

THREAD BARE

Her verbal skills may never change, but Rakhi Sawant's threads are about to. Instead of dressing herself (disastrously, if we may), the motor-mouthed item girl is being clothed by Ashley Rebello for her talk show. "I was asked to make her look completely different, almost like Malaika Arora Khan," says Rebello, who's already made six pieces for her. "She loved them so much that she bought them," he says. She may not be fixing her English, but at least she's fixing her fashion.
