

BUILDING A VIBRANT MADHYA PRADESH

Shri Shivraj Singh Chouhan
Chief Minister

Madhya Pradesh, the Heartland State of the country, has since its inception, carried the stigma of being a backward state. Things did change for better with time but it failed to realize its full potential due, mainly, to its failure to leverage its vast natural resources. However, the present state government led by young Chief Minister Shri Shivraj Singh Chouhan, who is shot with a passion to see the Madhya Pradesh as a front rank developed state of the country, has transformed from a laggard to one of the fastest moving state of India. Never before the pace of construction and development works was so fast as it has been in last four and half years. With a large number of major industries, educational and health institutions of national and international repute, power projects, dams, bridges, shopping malls, coming up and the people realizing the need for keeping pace with changing times Madhya Pradesh has emerged as a vibrant, new looking and good looking state.
