

The Return of the Hinduja

business today
for managing tomorrow

RETAIL NO. 55431/02

February 10, 2008 | Rs. 15/-

Jindal's Big Bet
Sajjan Jindal has lined up Rs 60,000 crore in investments.

BT Money
Buy, sell or hold IT stocks?

Why DuPont Gets It
CEO Chad Holliday explains.

PLUS:

- Old Brands Make a Comeback
- Sify's All-new Avatar
- PM's China Visit: Trade Booster

They're Back

Two decades after testing Indian waters, the Hinduja are once again in investment mode, with plans of pumping over $50 billion into a number of high-growth sectors. That's not too little, but are they too late?

Left to right: P.P. Hinduja, S.P. Hinduja, G.P. Hinduja & A.P. Hinduja Group

ON SALE NOW

Indians best remember them for their alleged involvement in the Bofors scandal, but the Hinduja have been a name in global business for decades. Now, more than 20 years after they began tapping opportunities in the country, the Hinduja are back with mega plans. They have lined up $50 billion in investments in sectors ranging from telecom to power to infrastructure. Business Today, India's No. 1 business magazine, brings you the first comprehensive look into the Hinduja's new game plan.

Plus: An exclusive interview with DuPont's global CEO, Chad Holliday • Sajjan Jindal's Rs. 60,000-crore bet • India's Biggest Newsmakers

Discover The Hidden Treasures of India's Five Largest Cities with BT More. Available only in Delhi, Mumbai, Chennai, Bangalore and Kolkata.

No. 1 as per IRS 2007 R1 & R2 and NRS 2006 (Paid & Claimed Readership)

