

here to travel 400 years back in time.

way to award winning restaurants, royal chambers into deluxe suites and battlegrounds tempered to a championship level golf course. I was introduced to The Dromoland Castle Hotel; rated among one of Europe's finest five star luxury destinations and once home to the acclaimed King O'Brien. And yet none of the regality had lost its sheen. The rooms were majestic, the service and cuisine only befitting the likes of a king. As I soaked in all the sheer magnificence and grandeur around me, I realised that nothing had really changed in Dromoland Castle in the last 400 years.
